Official – For public release.

Overview

- On Sunday, 25th October the clocks go back one hour at 02:00, marking the end of British Summer Time (BST) and the return to Greenwich Mean Time
- The clock change causes the 01:00 to 02:00 hour to occur twice—once in BST and once in GMT. This “repeated hour” introduces scheduling and data processing complexities
- To minimise the risk to customers from the clock change, several Gemini processes are being modified during the 01:00 GMT– 02:00 GMT hour bar
- Please note that both APIs and user interface screens will be impacted during this period.
- The below process will be restricted with further details provided within the pack:
 - Within Day Auctions
 - GB Renominations
 - EU Nominations
 - OCM & OTC Trades
